7. Gather Stakeholder Feedback

Lastly, to have a well-functioning app it is important to gather user feedback. User input can allow for tailoring and customization to satisfy stakeholder needs. Feedback can be gathered directly in communication from stakeholders or through an online feedback form attached to the app.

Below are questions that can be used to assess user input on the app via feedback form:

1. Have you found an error?
    a. Please describe the error and what needs to be changed. For example, a link that is broken
2. Do you have something you would like us to add?
    a. For example, a new app we have not added yet.
3. How likely are you to use this dashboard
    a. On a scale from 1-10, 10 being very likely and 1 being very unlikely
4. What are you most likely to use this dashboard for?
5. Any other feedback?
6. If you want notification when this dashboard is updated, please provide your email address.
